

MAYAN FAMILIES

Trade Schools

154

indigenous Guatemalans gained vocational skills in 2016

Many indigenous Guatemalans lack formal education and technical skills, forcing them to work menial jobs for long hours and very low pay. Since 2014, Mayan Families Trade Schools have provided students from the most disadvantaged backgrounds with training in carpentry, sewing, welding, and computing. This gives them the opportunity to gain marketable skills, increase their income, and ultimately build a better life for themselves and their families.

The Mayan Families Trade Schools include:

The Carpentry
School

The Sewing
School

The Welding
School

The Computer
School

Icons by Nick Abrams, Chiara Galli, YuguDesign, and Arthur Shlain from the Noun Project

www.mayanfamilies.org

liam@mayanfamilies.org

US Phone: +1-619-550-2608

Guatemala Phone: +502 7762-2490

